Austin High School, GreenSchools! in partnership with the U.S. Forest Service, the Friends of the National Forests and Grasslands in Texas - Latino Legacy and many others, will host a Zumbathon® to support area students in creating a more healthy Houston through campus and community greening projects.

The “Let’s Zumba® Outside for GreenSchools!” event will be held on Saturday, May 4, 2013, from 9 am -1 pm at Stephen F. Austin High School, located at 1700 Dumble, Houston TX 77023. Primary components of the event will center upon getting children and their families outside, campus and community greening, site planning for outdoor spaces, and promoting the important connection between health and nature. Please bring your own water container to help us reduce our waste.

Project Learning Tree (PLT) GreenSchools! inspires students to take responsibility for improving places through conservation and sustainability efforts at their schools, homes, and in their communities. This nationwide environmental service-learning program helps students improve academic performance in STEM subjects, provides teachers and students with training and resources needed to create healthier, greener schools, inspires civic leadership and creates opportunities for students to generate cost savings for school administration.
